VI. DATABASE FILES: .·

The Corpora of the literature will be stored in image form through scanning of books and manuscripts. Simultaneously Indian scripts will be entered in Microsoft Word. The facilities for conversion of the images through OCR will be utilised where available

IX. COLLABORATION WITH SISTER ORGANISATIONS

Many Institutions in India are engaged in Xeroxing, microfilming and scanning of manuscripts and rare printed books In order to avoid duplication on the one hand and to save time on the other, willing Institutions will be associated as collaborators with exchange of the data. To mention the Rashtriya Sanskrit Vidyapeetha at Tirupati is running a project called Sanskrit Net similar to S V Digital Library, for scanning manuscripts and digitizing Sanskrit texts

A copy of the digitized text will be given complementarily to the Institutions which support the project by donating/lending the books, manuscripts, paintings, animations, sound archieves, etc

X. PLAN OF ACTION :

The literature in each of the four languages namely English, Sanskrit, Telugu and Tamil is classified into 99 subjects (sec Appendix-I) From each branch a minimum of 5 books in all the four languages will be taken up for scanning and digitization. Besides these books, the Bhagavata (Sankrit), the Sankirtanalu of Annamacharya (Telugu), Nalayiradivyaprabhandha of Alwars (Tamil), the Vedic texts will be digitized, so that they will become base material for different research projects of TTD

XI. DATA ENTRY PROCESS :

For reasons of non-availability of OCR for Indian languages, the data shall be entered into computer manually, besides scanning It is impossible to obtain data entry operators knowing Indian scripts. So the data entry process is to be executed as is done in the Rashtriya Sanskrit Vidyapeetha under the counseling of CDAC, Pune/Bangalore The process takes five stages for being user friendly

Stage	Work executed	Purpose
I	Data entry	Keying of the text
II	Proof Reading	Document organisation
III	Editing	Production in the text format
IV	Pausa form	Splitting of compound words
V	Page analysis	Breaking of sandhi

Of the above the first three stages are to be executed compulsorily Pausa form and page analysis are needed to post documentation work like indexing, classification and retrieval An attempt will be made in course of time for development of a mechanical device in consultation with the research institutions engaged in this type of work

Till such time scholars in the respective fields of specialization will be assigned with proofreading, editing, pausa making and page analysis

A tentative remuneration pattern is arrived at as follows·

		Rs.
1.	Scanning of each image	0 50
2	Entering data in English per a page 2000 bytes of ACT text	6 00
